County Library—for the Asking A People's Hunger for Books What the State Requires

If we in Hempstead county will raise $630 for necessary supplies the State Library Commission stands ready to purchase $5,400 worth of books for the establishment of a county library service here.

I have this information in a letter addressed to me by Alfred Rawlinson, executive secretary of the Library Commission, War Memorial building, Little Rock.

Mr. Rawlinson sets forth that a total of $64,600 is available to be loaned and circulated by county libraries over the state, and $5,400 of this amount is allotted to Hempstead.

This is one thing Hempstead county should make sure of. As a newspaper publisher I can give expert testimony on a pertinent point: The Star spends several thousand dollars a year on the purchase of information and entertainment. We publish a full page of cartoons daily—a daily sports page, and other standard metropolitan "features". But our repeated reader surveys over many years show conclusively that the most popular single feature is the serial story, published in daily installments.

That tells how great is the people's hunger for books. Mr. Rawlinson gives the following requirements for the establishment of the proposed Hempstead county library—

Jonesboro Game Is to Be Broadcast at City Hall 8 Friday

25-Cent Admission Charge to Cover YBMA'S
Wire Expense

A "PLAY-BY-PLAY"

Telegraph Account From
Jonesboro—Team Leaves
6:30 a. m. Friday

A telegraphed play-by-play account of the Jonesboro football game will be sent from the Jonesboro stadium Friday night to Hope fans gathered in the city hall auditorium.

The reading of the telegraph account at the city hall will begin at 8 o'clock Friday night—game-time in Jonesboro.

The broadcast of the game is being handled by the Young Business Men's association, and there will be an admission charge at the auditorium to cover the expensive telegraph service running for two hours or so. Hope Star is participating in the wire cost, for publication rights Saturday.

General admission to the auditorium will be 25 cents per person, but students properly identified will be passed for 10 cents.

The Jonesboro Hurricane is Hope's second state conference game, the Bobcats having previously defeated Benton of the "Big Fifteen."

The Bobcat squad, comprising 22 players, Coach Foy Hummons and two student managers, will leave Hope from the Diamond cafe at 6:30 o'clock Friday morning on a 6:30 o'clock Tri-State bus, arriving at Jonesboro nearly 300 miles away, late in the afternoon.

Fourth Set Twins Are Born Thursday

Texarkana Killer to State Hospital

Mother Who Poisoned Child, Then Self, Will Recover

TEXARKANA. Mrs. Guy Potts, 43, wife of a Miller county deputy sheriff who fatally poisoned her seven-year-old daughter, Polly, then tried to end her own life in a similar manner, was transferred to the State Hospital at Little Rock Wednesday.

The transfer was made after Mrs. Potts reiterated her threat to kill herself, her husband and her 18-year-old daughter, Janet.

Mrs. Potts, a World War nurse, will recover, her physician said today.

The Requirements

1. Aid shall be given only to libraries giving county library service according to Act 244 of the Acts of Arkansas, 1927, entitled: An Act to Authorize Counties to Establish and Maintain County Free Libraries.

2. Aid is granted on the basis of providing the minimum collection necessary to undertake County-wide library service.

3. Not more than one library in a county shall receive aid and this library shall serve as an administrative center for county library service to the whole county.

4. As long as funds are available, grants shall be made to the various counties in the order in which they apply for aid.

5. Two or more counties may combine their state aid for the establishment of one library serving the region provided the amount of state aid does not exceed $20,000.

6. All libraries receiving $8,000 or over state aid shall have at least one graduate of an accredited library school on the staff. Those receiving less than $8,000 shall have at least one member on the staff who has been a student in an accredited library school for three months.

7. State aid is for books only and the book collection purchased with state aid shall have the following proportions:

Children's books 50% of book fund.

Adult fiction 20% of book fund.

Adult non-fiction 25% of book fund.

Magazines and newspapers 5% of book fund.

8. Service of books provided by state aid shall be free and given to all parts of the county through such methods as the County Library Board and the Librarian shall deem advisable.

9. All books purchased with state aid funds remain the property of the Arkansas Library Commission and are on an indefinite loan to the county. The Commission reserves the right to withdraw all its books from a library not rendering effective service.

10. The initial selection of books to be purchased with state aid funds for a county library shall be made locally and the titles must be approved by the Commission before the books are bought.

11. Libraries which qualify for funds available to the Commission before July 1, 1938, will not be given more than 80% of their grant by that date and the remaining part by July 1, 1939.

12. The obligations of the county shall consist of supplying adequate quarters, personnel, supplies, and means of distribution.

The P. T. A. School of Instruction, scheduled to meet at Hope High School building Saturday, October 16, will not be held until the following Saturday, October 23, it was announced Thursday by Mrs. Edwin Dossett, P. T. A. city council president.

BAILEY MAY RESIGN

Wade Kitchens to Discuss 1938 Farm Program Saturday

Congressman to Speak at Hope City Hall and at Blevins School

MEETING HERE 10 A. M.

Cotton Loan and Subsidy
Plans Will Be Discussed by Kitchens

Congressman Wade Kitchens of Magnolia will be the principal speaker at two farm meetings to be held in Hempstead county Saturday, October 16.

The first meeting will be at 10 a. m. at Hope city hall, and the second at Blevins High School at 2 p. m. Saturday.

Purpose of the meetings are to discuss the proposed 1938 farm program. The two meetings are being sponsored by the Hempstead County Farm Bureau.

It is very important that all farmers attend this meeting in order that they may know what the 1938 farm program proposes to do.

H. H. Huskey, state committeeman and president of Hempstead County Farm Bureau, will be chairman of the meetings.

Mr. Huskey recently attended a meeting in Memphis where he served as a committeeman on the proposed 1938 farm program. He will discuss the most important points of the Memphis meeting.

The latest information relative to the cotton loan and subsidy will also be discussed.

Local Loan Unit Plans to Expand

Directors Meet With J. C.
Conway, Secy. of L. R.
Home Loan Bank

Plans for further increasing the activities of the Hope Federal Saving & Loan Association were discussed at a special meeting of the board of directors Wednesday night, which was attended by J. C. Conway, secretary of the Federal Home Loan Bank of Little Rock, of which the association is a member.

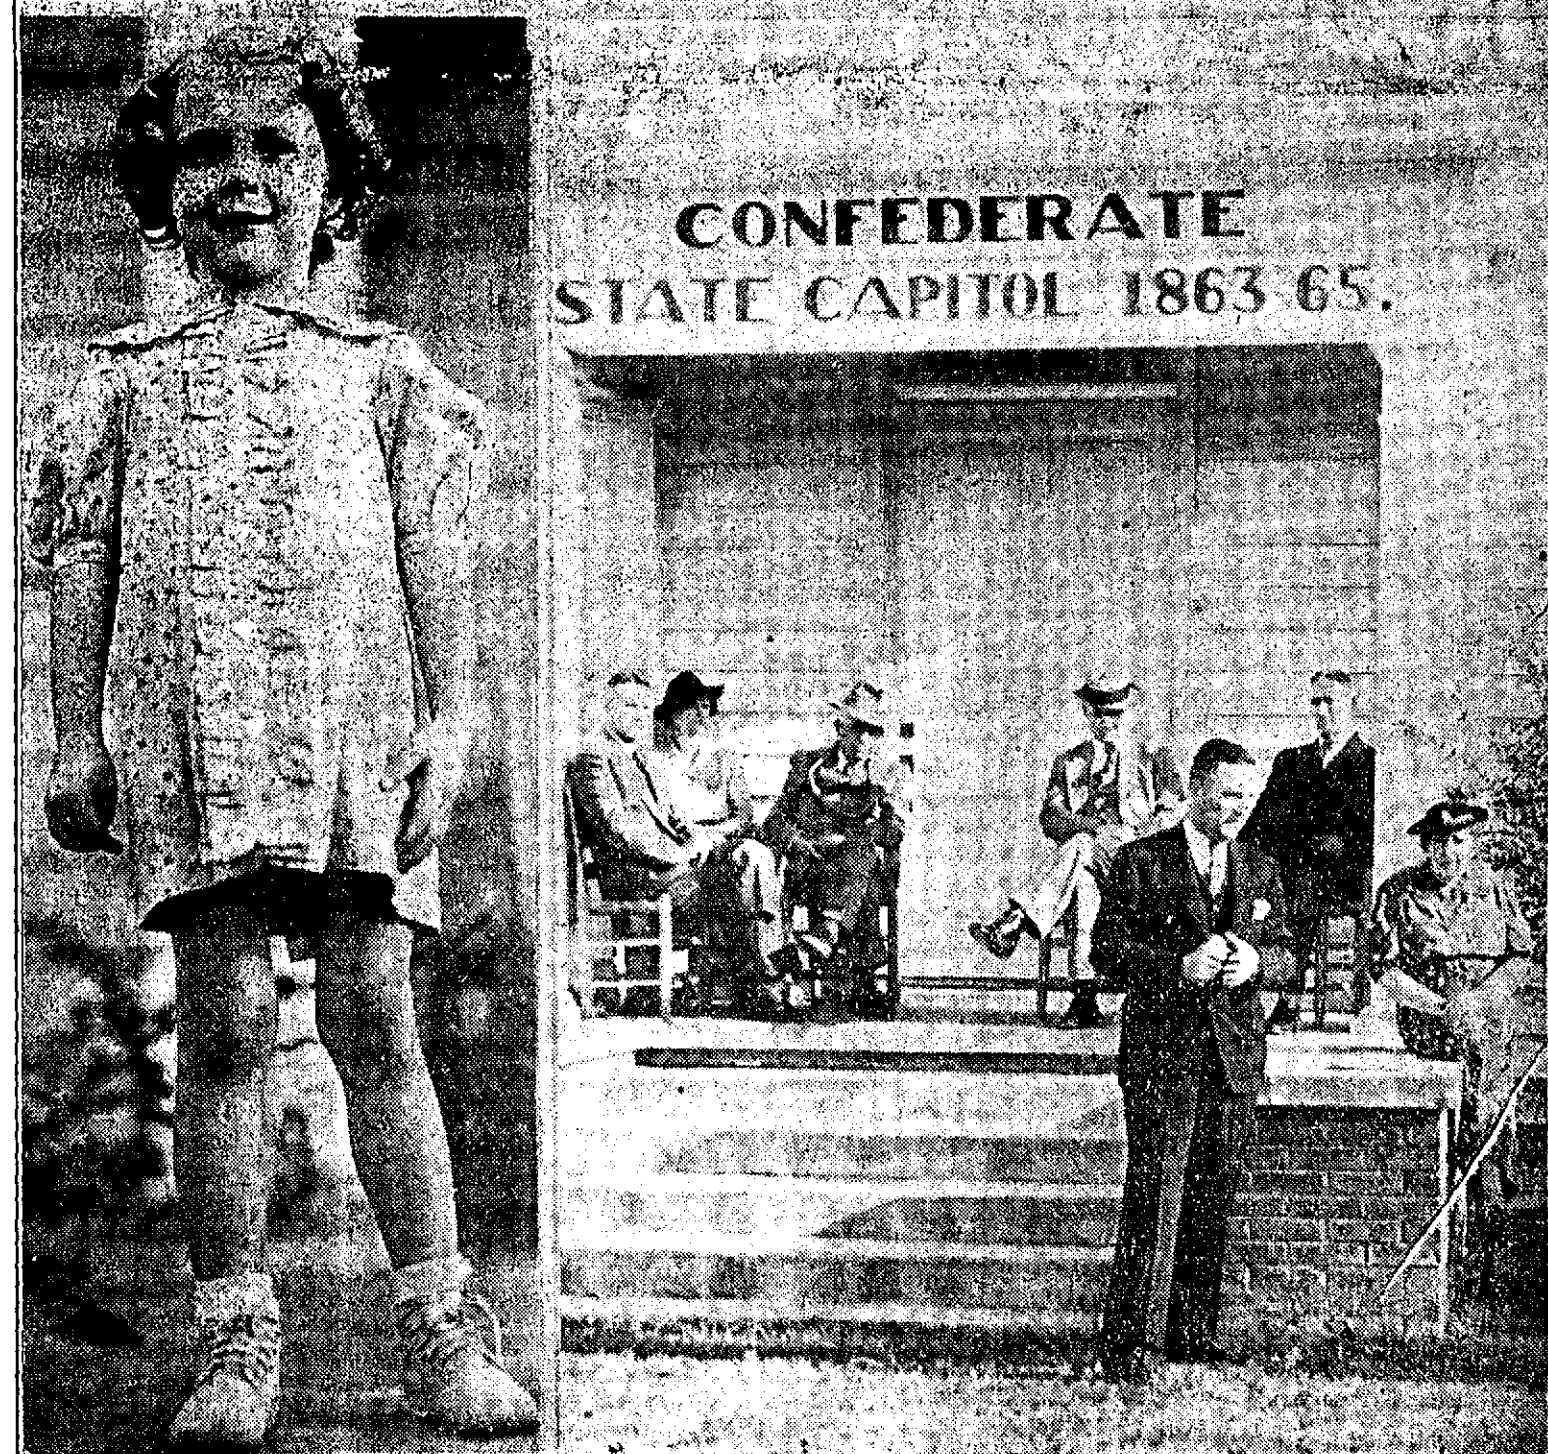

Mr. Conway came to Hope to confer with the management of the local thrift and home financing institution relative to an immediate campaign of information and education to better acquaint the general public with the facilities of the association.

"Many people are not familiar with the services offered by the Hope Federal Savings & Loan Association," Mr. Conway said, "and do not know that savings placed in it are insured against loss up to $5,000 for every account by an agency of the Federal government, earn a liberal dividend, and are available in case of need. The too, the association has ample funds to lend on first mortgages on homes in Hope, on the popular direct reduction plan, and it invites applications for loans for the purchase, construction, remodeling and repair of residences. The directors of the association have made plans for a campaign to better inform the citizens of Hope of the facilities available to them, and I am confident that through proper publicity the association can be of much more service in furthering the growth and progress of the city."

The Hope Federal Savings & Loan Association is one of 1,200 similar nationally chartered organizations, 35 of which are in Arkansas. All of them are members of the Federal Home Loan Bank System, through which funds are available to the associations at all times to meet the needs of borrowers and investors. The Federal Home Loan Bank of Little Rock with which Mr. Conway is connected serves approximately 300 associations in the states of Arkansas, Louisiana, Mississippi, New Mexico and Texas, being one of

CONCLUDING RALLY

Miller Men at Spring Hill
—Bailey Forces Here
Saturday

LITTLE ROCK.—(P)—Political circles speculated Thursday over an assertion by Congressman Miller that Governor Bailey Friday night his intention of relinquishing the gubernatorial office to Lieutenant-Governor Bailey if elected to the senate next Monday, October 18.

Miller made the statement Wednesday night at El Dorado.

Bailey headquarters here declined to comment Thursday.

Lieutenant-Governor Bailey said Thursday:

"I haven't been a party to any trade, am not interested in any trade now and will not be in the future."

Local Rallies

In Hempstead county the supporters of Congressman John Miller are holding a rally at 7:30 o'clock this Thursday night, October 14, at Spring Hill, as previously announced, but have announced no concluding rallies for the week-end.

The local Miller speakers, O. A. Graves, John Vesey, Sheriff Jim Bear-den and Steve Carrigan, appeared last Friday and Saturday nights at Blevins and McCaskill.

For the forces of Governor Carl Bailey, the Democratic County Central Committee has announced a county-wide rally to be held at Hope city hall at 7:30 o'clock Saturday night, October 16.

The Bailey rally announcement was made by W. S. Atkins, chairman of the county committee.

Lawyers, the Law and Public Confidence

IT ISN'T hard to understand why the American Bar Association convention at Kansas City had a field day attacking President Roosevelt for his criticisms of the law and lawyers. The President has been a bit rough with lawyers, on occasion; turn about is only fair play.

But the speech of President Robert M. Hutchins of the University of Chicago was a timely warning that the legal profession has a little job of soul-searching to do—a job which can't be evaded by a simple assertion that Mr. Roosevelt is biased and vindictive.

President Hutchins put it up to the lawyers in plain words:

"If they continue to accept what is done as the standard of what to do; if they continue to seek large fees under the impression that they are the common good; if legal ethics mean little more than a protective tariff in favor of the bar; if we are regarded as the spokesmen of special privilege; if our chief claim to public admiration is our agility in making the worse cause appear the better, then we are lost: then we cannot hope to make the community accept our moral leadership."

THERE is no use pretending that a great many plain citizens nowadays are not pretty well disillusioned about lawyers. This has nothing whatever to do with the Supreme Court fight; it antedates it by a good many years, and it is due very largely to the points touched on by President Hutchins.

Our laws are made principally by lawyers. They are interpreted by lawyers. When we discover that a certain law does not mean what we had supposed it very clearly did mean, or that its force is nullified by the existence of gaping loopholes or cleverly legalized non-observance, we know that some lawyer has been at it.

It is this sort of thing which has led to public disillusionment. The Bar Association gets nowhere by charging President Roosevelt with bias. The charge may be perfectly correct, but it is beside the point. Self-questioning along the line laid down by President Hutchins is what is called for.

PERHAPS a good part of the trouble comes because lawyers and laymen alike have been confused as to whether the practice of law is a profession or a trade.

If it is a profession, it carries with it certain ethical standards and entails a definite duty to society. Its members are obligated to live up to certain ideals—at the cost, if necessary, of cash in the pocket. If it is a trade, on the other hand, then anything goes, and the annual profit-and-loss statement is the only criterion of success.

The best thing the lawyers could do would be to decide once and for all what sort of league they are operating in.

"As Far As Possible"

JAPAN'S reply to the American protest at the bombing of Nanking makes interesting reading. After insisting that Japanese bombing raids are directed solely at military objectives and are not intended to harm noncombatants, the reply states:

"Japan's policy of respecting as far as possible the lives, property and interests of third powers is unchanged."

The catch in that pledge, of course, is the little phrase, "as far as possible." To date there have been dismaying signs that that isn't going to include very much ground. It is hard to think that the world's conscience will ever approve aerial warfare unless some way is found to confine its damage to strictly military objectives—and unless "as far as possible" takes in a good deal more territory than it has to date.

Worker in Compressed Air Subject to a Strange and Painful Malady

This is the third of a series of articles in which Dr. Morris Fishbein discusses industrial diseases and the ways in which the worker's health may be guarded.

(No. 344)
One of the strangest of all occupational diseases is the so-called compressed air disease, or caisson disease. Since men have been sinking caissons for bridges, piers and submarine tunnels, this disease has been a factor. Compressed air is used to keep water or mud out of the place in which the men are at work. The water and mud are kept out by raising the pressure of air in the caisson to a figure above that of the water or mud which presses against the shell of the workroom. If the pressure is kept sufficiently high, there is always some outward leakage of air rather than leakage of water into the room.

Human beings, however, are not built to live long under such conditions. In fact, they have to be especially prepared to work under such conditions even for a short time. For that reason it is customary for the worker to become accustomed to the compressed air gradually.

When a healthy, normal person enters an air lock or tank in which the pressure is raised, he first notices an effect in his ears. He can overcome this effect by swallowing or by holding his nose and blowing. If he fails to do this, he may actually have a rupture of the eardrum. Experienced workers protect themselves automatically by swallowing or by holding the nose and blowing whenever they are going down into a high-pressure chamber.

It has been found that when the pressure rises sufficiently it is impossible to whistle because one cannot blow against the pressure. Furthermore the compression of air makes heat and the worker takes off his clothes as the pressure rises and puts them on again as the pressure falls.

When a person is developing compressed air illness, he gets some symptoms which are far from pleasant. Because of the compression the blood and the tissues of the body dissolve an increased amount of air. When the pressure is suddenly decreased, bubbles of nitrogen can form, cutting off the blood supply from various parts of the body.

When this occurs the symptoms of compressed air illness develop with pain, dizziness, prostration, weakness, painful constriction of the chest, difficulty with hearing and sometimes even paralysis. Sometimes these symptoms are mistaken for those of intoxication and workers have died through failure of those near them to recognize what was wrong. For this reason it has been suggested that workers in compressed air should always wear tags stating their occupation and the location of the recompression room so that they may be immediately put in that room and the pressure raised when they suffer serious symptoms. It is known that many of these symptoms can be relieved if the worker will promptly inhale some oxygen, and in many industries arrangements are made to recompress workers promptly and to supply them with oxygen when the condition called caisson disease occurs.

Yesterday Jim calls Cilly while Dolan is in her apartment. When Cilly refuses to divulge who called, Dolan orders her off to headquarters with him while he places police in her room to take further messages.

CHAPTER XXVI

CILLY leaned helplessly against the wall while Dolan proceeded to give orders over the telephone to trace Jim's call.

Jim had phoned from the Pennsylvania Hotel. The operator verified that. He could get out and disappear into the subway in 30 seconds. She felt a subtle pleasure at having outwitted Dolan.

He was so sure of himself, so positive in his theory. What did it matter to him that he was rail-roading an innocent man to jail; to the . . . to the electric chair! For the first time, Cilly caught the full significance of what Jim was facing. She held her breath as a new terror seized her.

Dolan was arresting her. There would be nobody to carry on for Jim . . . nobody to watch the Hunter man, or Harvey Ames . . . nobody to check on Carruthers who also came from Utah. Dolan would forget all that.

Suddenly she faced Dolan, her eyes burning with indignation and terror and despair.

"Why are you so determined to accuse Jim? What about Harvey Ames? He had every opportunity and just as good a motive. What about Hunter? There are a dozen angles that you refuse to consider." Dolan frowned in annoyance.

THERE were voices in the outer hallway. Cilly recognized them. A second later, her bell rang.

"O. K. Answer it," Dolan ordered.

Cilly opened the door to admit Mr. and Mrs. Perry, who lived next door in Apartment 1-B.

Mrs. Perry, a plump, neighborly little woman, held both hands out to Cilly in a motherly gesture. "You poor dear!" she murmured. "We only heard about it today. I'm so terribly, terribly sorry."

Dolan stood in the living room, taking in the situation. "Come in, Mrs. Perry," Cilly urged. "Hello, Mr. Perry. This is Sergeant Dolan, from police headquarters. Mr. and Mrs. Perry are my next door neighbors, sergeant."

Dolan acknowledged the introduction with a brief nod. "Oh, this is just too horrible for you, my dear," Mrs. Perry went on. "And to have it happen the minute your young man was called away. . . ."

Cilly's eyes widened. Dolan turned his shrewd glance on Mrs. Perry instantly.

"How did you know Jim was going away?" Cilly asked her.

"Oh, we met him that evening. Didn't we, John?"

"When was this?" Dolan asked abruptly.

"Just about midnight," Mr. Perry stated mildly. "Yes, it was exactly midnight."

CILLY's heart bounded as a new hope dawned. "Just how and where did you meet the young man?" Dolan asked quickly.

Mr. Perry seemed a little surprised at the sudden questioning. "We met him two blocks further down, on St. Ann's avenue," he related simply. "You see, we'd stopped in here a little after 11. I wasn't it, dear? Miss Pierce had offered to look after our fish while we were away. Mr. Kerrigan and another gentleman were here. . . ."

"How did you know which was Kerrigan?" Dolan interrupted.

"Why, we had met him before. One Sunday afternoon, we met him with Miss Pierce down at Jones Beach. We all came home together. So of course when I saw him in such a hurry Sunday night, I was glad to offer him a lift. We'd gotten the car, and had a little bite down in the tavern, and then just as we started off, we saw Mr. Kerrigan, running toward the subway. He seemed in such a hurry. . . ."

"What time was this?"

"Exactly midnight. Remember, Mary, you remarked on it?"

"Yes," Mrs. Perry affirmed. "The steeple clock was just striking midnight. I teased Mr. Kerrigan about being in such a hurry to leave Priscilla, and he explained that he had to make a hurried trip out west. He didn't want to wait for trains, and there was a friend of his—a private pilot—who was leaving Floyd Bennett Field at 12:30 for Chicago. Mr. Kerrigan wanted to catch him, but of course because he was in such a hurry he couldn't get a taxi. So we drove him down to the flying field."

"You drove him to Floyd Bennett Field Sunday night?" Dolan repeated incredulously. He saw his carefully prepared case crumbling before him.

Mr. and Mrs. Perry nodded simultaneously. "And we got him there in 15 minutes," Mr. Perry said with pride. "Kerrigan's friend had just arrived himself. It was exactly quarter past 12. We waited around until they took off, and then we started for Fall River."

CILLY could have wept for joy. Jim had been down at Floyd Bennett Field at quarter past 12. Amy was killed at 12:20. There was a jump in her throat as she grabbed Mrs. Perry's hands in both of hers. "Thank you so much for telling us that," she exclaimed. Then, trying to be casual in her explanation, she added: "You know, everybody is under suspicion in a case like this until an alibi is established."

Mrs. Perry nodded smilingly. She did not understand why Mr. Kerrigan, Priscilla's special young man, needed an alibi. But she did not say so.

"Well, we'd better take the goldfish and run along," Mr. Perry suggested. "If there's any way we can help, sergeant, we'll be right next door. . . ."

As the door closed behind the Perrys, Cilly turned to Sergeant Dolan. She could not hide the gleam of satisfaction which lighted up her eyes.

"Well, sergeant, do you still want to hold me as an accessory?" Dolan slumped into a chair wearily.

"I guess not. Their story rang true enough. . . . and we can always check on it." He looked up at Cilly, smiled a little crookedly. Dolan looked at his watch.

"Well, I've got to hustle and check on some of these other angles you've been harping on. If he gets in touch with you again, will you ask him to see me immediately at headquarters? His testimony is still mighty important."

"I'll do that, sergeant."

"Thanks. I hope we'll be working together from now on, Miss Pierce. Sorry about everything. . . ."

After Dolan left, Cilly made up her mind as to what she was going to do. There had been altogether too many stones left unturned in this house since Sunday night.

A Depressing Study of Rural Bondage

Charlie May Simon makes no pretense that her novel, "The Share-Cropper" (Dutton; $2.50, is the "Uncle Tom's Cabin" of the modern South; but certainly here is one of the most penetrating pictures of the exploited worker yet to come from any writer.

The story of Bill Bradley, share-cropper, with its backdrop of heartache, social injustice and 10 per cent interest, will not read well, perhaps, below the Mason and Dixon line, but Mrs. Simon has endeavored to hold the middle course.

Simply, effectively, Bill Bradley trudges through her story, going behind a little this year, making a very few dollars next, subsisting for the most part on cornmeal and sorghum when the days are leanest. Most of the time he's in debt to the commissary and somehow the landlord outfigures Bill every time.

Yet the tragedy of Bradley and his family repeats itself year after year. And somehow you feel there are a great many Bill Bradleys in the land. Who is to blame for this vicious system, Mrs. Simon does not indicate. Neither does she defend Bill. You recognize that there are good landlords and bad, poor share-croppers and good.

The point is that there is a vicious system to which whole families are born and from which anything on which to escape.

So you lay down "The Share-Cropper" finally with a feeling commingled of regret and depression.—P. G. F.

9c GOVERNMENT COTTON LOAN FORMS RECEIVED

Forms for effecting government 9-cent loans are here, and we are now prepared to arrange loans with the same prompt and careful consideration that we have extended the producer for over 30 years. The evidence of this constructive and gratifying service is the retention of the valuable patronage of some of the largest and most influential planters in the Hope territory for that unusual length of time; and those who anticipate placing their cotton in 9-cent government loans can be assured of this most satisfactory attention. Furthermore, they will find it to their decided advantage to arrange their loans through our firm.

PRESIDENT INVITES BAILEY TO A TALK

CONFERENCE ON COTTONSEED TO BE HELD OCTOBER 22nd

These headlines on the front page of the Arkansas Gazette this week tell a story of a governor in action when action is needed.

Governor Bailey was the first to recognize and act upon the obvious fact that the cotton seed is an integral part of cotton and represents about one-third of the total value of cotton crops.

If something could be done to increase the price and use of cotton seed, it would ably supplement the cotton price protection program of the national administration.

SO HE WENT INTO ACTION . . .

He called a cottonseed conference of southern governors and agricultural and planning experts to be held in Little Rock after the election. The response was immediate and enthusiastic.

After calling the cottonseed conference, he wrote President Roosevelt:

"It would be helpful in planning for the conference to know whether you feel that you can recommend to the Congress that a cottonseed price adjustment program similar to that for cotton be put into operation."

President Roosevelt Responds

President Roosevelt responds with a telegram saying:

"I should like to talk with you about cotton and cottonseed but I am leaving tonight to be gone a week. Perhaps you could come to Washington about the 22nd or 23rd of this month."

TO PLAN PROGRAM WITH PRESIDENT

Governor Bailey will go to Washington after the cottonseed conference and take recommendations for a definite program to help southern cotton farmers.

Something is being done! AND GOVERNOR BAILEY STARTED IT.

ON THE JOB IN WASHINGTON . . .

In the United States Senate, Carl E. Bailey not only will give full support to President Roosevelt in his New Deal program, but he promises to initiate a constructive program of particular interest to Arkansas.

He Will Act For:

A well-considered program for expansion of federal aid to schools, thus affording relief to local property owners in school districts.

Government assumption of full responsibility for further reservoir construction and levee building not only on the Mississippi but its tributaries, and federal relief from levee and drainage taxes in the districts that have assumed a burden that properly should be shared by the country as a whole.

An increase in the $30,000,000 limit of federal highway aid in Arkansas without matching state funds on the ground that consideration should be allowed for expensive but valuable experimentation and pioneering in road building.

Continuation and broadening of the agricultural program not necessarily to curtail production but to balance it so that markets can absorb its products at a fair price. Inclusive of cottonseed in the price protection program.

Establishment of the CCC as a permanent organization.

Additional funds for rural electrification in which Arkansas and two other states lead the nation.

Governor Bailey will Not Waste His Years in Washington as His Independent Opponent Has Done for Seven Years.

HE WILL BE ON THE JOB!

I noticed as soon as I opened the door that the fellow was surely, and so with a frown just as black as the one that he wore.

I angrily told him to go.

Now, I haven't the slightest intention to be angry, unkind and hateful as he; but that was the trick that he played upon me.

Another clap came to my doorstep that day.

And a twinkle he had in his eye. With a smile on his face he began in a way that prompted a gentle reply.

Though a stranger he was, I was eager to be as gracious, good-natured and kindly as he.

And that was the trick that he played upon me.

Since those visits, I've thought in this life that we live,

And the lesson seems simple to learn, We get back a smile for the smile that we give.

And a frown brings a frown in return.

If I chuckle, with chuckles I'll surely be met.

Just as I set my lips, so all lips will be set.

And that is a trick that I mustn't forget.—E. A. G.

Mrs. George Dodd has returned from Pine Bluff where she attended the meeting of the Arkansas Parent Teachers' Congress.

Miss Hattie Anne Feild and Mrs. R. T. Bryant were Thursday visitors in Lewisville.

Rev. and Mrs. T. A. Middlebrooks have spent the past week in Monroe, La., attending the bedside of their son, Otto, who is seriously ill in a Monroe hospital.

The Hope Garden club will hold its October meeting at 3 o'clock, Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. K. G. McRae, Edgewood avenue. Mrs. E. E. White will lead the program.

On account of the unfavorable weather, last Saturday, the Cemetery Association postponed its rummage sale until Saturday, October 15, at which time it will be held at the old Checkered Pharmacy stand, corner

Now Will You Believe Jonah

Three of the crew of the "Killer Ship Hercules" find that Jonah could have had ample room for a comfortable apartment in the mouth of "Colossus," the huge 68-ton whale scheduled to arrive in Hope on her own speciality built bridge steel exhibit car Saturday, October 16th, for a one day visit.

The huge monster pictured above is 35 feet long and was the victim of a recent historic battle that will long remain an epic in the annals of whale hunting. Harpooned 165 miles off the Coast of Southern California the monster whale put up a 16 hour battle with the "Killer Ship Hercules" that almost put the Killer Ship on the rocks at Catalina Island. In the 16 hours the monster had towed the 400 ton killer ship more than 135 miles straight toward shore. "Colossus" is the largest of her species ever captured and is but one of the features of the mammoth Marine Hippodrome, there are more than a hundred other marine oddities, chief among which is "Sea," the "Mermaid" said to be nature's strongest living original, in that she closely resembles the fabled mermaids of the ancient marines, and may well be the answer to that old question "Do Mermaids Really Exist?" The huge exhibit will arrive here Saturday, October 16th, and will be spotted immediately on the team track at the Missouri Pacific depot. The exhibit will be open to the public from noon until 10 p. m.

Second and Main streets.

James William Cantley and Ray Turner are spending their vacation at Los Angeles and other western points of interest.

The Hope Association, Baptist church are meeting Thursday and Friday at Harmony Grove near Texarkana. Local Baptists attending are Rev. and Mrs. W. R. Hamilton, A. C. Irwin, Dr. and Mrs. W. R. Alexander, Mrs. Anna Duffie, Mrs. Jimmie Embree, Mrs. F. L. Padgett, Mrs. Earl Bowden and Mrs. J. L. Lewis.

The regular monthly meeting of the Woman's Missionary Society of the First Methodist church was held at the church. The president, after a short business meeting presented Mrs. C. D. Lester, Mission Study leader. She in a few forceful words outlined the plan of study, and gave an introduction to the book "What Is This Moslem World?" and its author. Special emphasis was placed on his knowledge of the people, and his ability and fitness for the task of interpreting them to the Christian world. Mrs. O. A. Graves was leader for the afternoon, and contributed the much worthwhile information to the study. Miss Beryl Henry based her devotion on the passage, "He that keepeth Israel neither slumbers nor sleeps." She drew a vivid picture of the contrasts in the prayer life of the Christian and that of the Moslems and Mexicans. The Moslems build their mosques close to their business life, and though actuated by fear and fatalism answer the call to prayer five times every day. The Mexican with his superstition and ignorance makes time for his devotions and penance. The lighter side of the Moslem life was pictured by Mrs. T. R. Billingsley, and the dark side by Mrs. R. L. Bronch. The life of leisure and repose; the impassiveness, submission and resignation which characterize them; accepting whatever comes as God's will, their poverty with its life per day wage; their ignorance and disease were all widely portrayed. Maps and posters made clearer the territory occupied by the Moslems, and the contrast in their religion and that of the Christian showing it a fertile and fruitful field for work. The next meeting continuing the review of the book will be conducted by Mrs. Lester at the church Friday afternoon at three o'clock, you are invited to be present.

Mrs. R. M. LaGrone has returned from Texarkana where she was the guest of Mrs. E. I. Williams at the opening luncheon of the Texarkana Wednesday Music club at the Hotel Grim.

Mrs. Chas. A. Haynes, organizing regent of John Cain Chapter D. A. R. Hope, was hostess to the chapter and several guests when she entertained with a 1 o'clock luncheon Wednesday afternoon at her home on West Second avenue. The large living room was brightened by numerous green vases and baskets of Titithonia and ferns, while roses were used in profusion in the dining room.

The D. A. R. ritual was led by the Regent, Mrs. Chas. H. Locke. Mrs. J. M. Houston read the minutes of the previous meeting and the Registrar, Mrs. Wilbur D. Jones announced that papers had been sent to one prospective member.

Mrs. Lee S. Holt was elected corresponding secretary to fill a vacancy in this office.

Correspondence was read and filed for future action and it was announced that subscriptions to the D. A. R. Magazine had been given the Hope Public Library and the Hope High School Library and the letter had also been placed on the mailing list of the National Defense News.

Mrs. Locke announced that "Trees," by Joyce Kilmer, had been chosen the theme song of the National Society D. A. R., and all members were urged to memorize "The Star Spangled Banner."

Miss Mamie Twitchell was in charge of the program and read a paper titled, "The World Today."

Mrs. James G. Martindale read a poem, "Conquest," by Isabel Whitehouse Topping, which follows:

If I looked over every day,
My neighbor's garden o'er the way,
And wished that I had "space to grow"
The things I saw there, row on row;
And, then, began to wish quite hard
That I might make my own his yard—
And so, should start to train my arm
In strength . . . to do my neighbor harm.

And when my muscles had grown strong
Enough to do him a great wrong,
I should just go across and say:
"I've come to take your land away;
I'm strong . . . you're weak . . . you'll soon be downed;
My fence I'll build about your ground—
You need not think you can resist,
For I have brought my strong, mailed fist!
What has belonged to you, you'll see
Will very soon belong to me!"

I hardly think our laws would let Me do a thing like that . . . and yet
Why it is that no world-laws say
A nation cannot act that way?

Shall Pontius Pilate rise again
In Rome, to scourge the Lord of men?
Till Christ of love and peace, to slay?

Is there no law his power to stay?
Shall the great shrine of Christian-birth
Be desecrated o'er the earth?
O God, shall Thou be thus denied . . .
And Christ, again, be crucified?

A piano solo, "La Paloma" by Mrs. Wilbur Jones concluded the program, which was followed by the closing ritual and the singing of "America." Guests for the afternoon, other than members of the Chapter were Mrs. L.

Santa Fe Convicts Publish Newspaper

But Numbers, Not Names, Are News in This Tabloid Journal

By BARNEY LIVINGSTONE

SANTA FE, N. W.—(AP)—Numbers—not names—make "news" for the editors of "El Boletin."

"El Boletin" has just made its journalistic bow as a tabloid monthly newspaper to the inmates of the New Mexico state penitentiary.

Edited and published by prison inmates, the paper disseminates news of interest and serves as an educational-rehabilitation project for penitentiary inmates.

The newspaper observes the usual monotony of prison life. There are no names in the columns except those of prison officials.

Spade's a Spade

Letters to the editors are numerous and to the point. For instance:

Editor: For the first time in my life I have enjoyed seeing my name in the paper without having after it, "Held in $500 bond. Thank you."

With the streamer line of page one, "New Prison Paper Makes Its Bow To The Inmates," the editor sizes up his policy as follows:

"In the exercise of sound editorial policy we shall print the news of

W. Young, Mrs. A. E. Slusser and Miss Frances Snyder.

The November meeting will have Mrs. J. J. Battle for program leader and Mrs. R. M. Bryant and Mrs. O. A. Graves will be hostesses.

reader interest, no propaganda, but facts and avoid the contagion of falsity. . . ."

Aid To Newcomers

News Item No. 1 announced the prison population as 632, eight females and 624 males.

Another item points out, apparently for benefit of newcomers, that the "total period" of an inmate's life is the "first introduction to the routine of a penal institution . . . that the impressions created by the beginning of a man's term may have a great influence on his future conduct."

The first edition announced a short story contest for prisoners, in line with the warden's policy of encouraging creative writing.

Woman Is Outstanding Aviator for Germany

DARMSTADT, Germany.—(AP)—Germany is proud of her Fraulein "Fliegerkapitain" (flier captain) Hanna Reitsch, outstanding glider flier and one of few women active in the sport.

She recently established a record for long distance flights by women by gliding from the Rhoen hills of Hamburg, a distance of 218 miles. This achievement has been recognized by the Federation Aeronautique Internationale.

The 24-year-old flier has been almost the lone woman entry in European glider competitions and nearly always has won honors. She has toured South America, Africa and Asia.

For her accomplishments in aeronautical research, Air Minister Hermann Goering recently conferred on her the title of "Fliegerkapitain." She was the first woman to receive such a decoration.

12 Youths to Get CCC Assignments

To Be Eligible Must Report to Welfare Office This Week

Twelve Hempstead county youths between the ages of 17 and 23 still have an opportunity to enroll in CCC for assignment to camps in Iowa and South Dakota, according to Mrs. Sally M. Broening, county director of selection.

Applicants accompanied by their parents must come to the welfare office within the next two or three days. Those persons selected will report to Camp Pike, North Little Rock, Arkansas, on Wednesday, October 20th.

Nation Turns to War Upon Pests

Praying Mantis Is Traced Back to Origin in Distant Asia

By the AP Feature Service
Comes now autumn and the praying mantis is laying its eggs to hatch, with the spring, a new army for the war on plant lice, flies, grasshoppers and other pestiferous and harmful insects. The mantis is one more immigrant who has made good in America. The Chinese mantis came over from Asia on a ship about 1885, settled at Mt. Alry, Pa., found climate and country-side to his liking, and annually since has been extending his empire in all directions. Already his legions are well known from Massachusetts to the District of Columbia and west.

Being wholly carnivorous, the mantis is listed by the department of agriculture as beneficial. Only in rare cases do their appetites get the better of judgment and their bill of fare include such "beneficial" insects as honey bees or other mantids.

In spite of his vicious appearance, the mantis is quite harmless to man. Ability to turn his triangular head completely around and the suppliant pose of his front legs has made the mantis a constant source of interest. Ancient Greeks endow the mantis with supernatural powers, gave him the name, "the diviner." Turks and Arabs held he was a holy little fellow who prayed constantly with his head turned toward Mecca.

In the United States, interest in his religiosity is secondary. Chief interest in the inroads he is making against the armies of agricultural pests.

Pine Bluff, Camden in Annual Contest

Hope Plays at Jonesboro and Hot Springs Goes to Little Rock

LITTLE ROCK—(AP)—Three of the six undefeated leaders of the Arkansas High School Athletic Conference risk their chances for a football title against strong competition this week-end.

Pine Bluff, Little Rock and Hope meet conference foes who, although previously trounced, are tough on anybody's gridiron. The 12 other conference members battle in contests, only one of which will have a bearing on the standings.

Coach Allen Dunaway's powerhouse Zebras journey to Camden for an annual tilt with Coach "Sad Sam" Coleman's Panthers. Camden dropped a hard-fought battle to the favored Little Rock Tigers last week but is expected to be hard to stop Friday night. Pine Bluff, leading the league with three straight conference wins, is doped to win, although experts are unwilling to give points.

Little Rock entertains Hot Springs thrice-beaten Trojans at the capitol. The Tigers, boasting the strongest rate as top-heavy favorites over the luckless sp. team, but Coach Mervin Perry may have uncovered a dependable attack during the past week.

Hope meets Jonesboro. Foy Hammons charges have lost only one non-conference game and hold a victory in their only previous circuit engagement. Lowell Manning's Hurricanes from Craighead county has lost two non-conference games. The game looks to be a toss-up.

Fort Smith and North Little Rock meet in the fourth all-conference tilt. North Little Rock is playing .500 ball and rates to defeat the Grizzlies who have managed to eke out only a single victory and score but one touchdown in four contests.

Bluffville's powerful Chicks take on Paragould in a Northeast Arkansas event that should give Coach Joe Diddy's boys something else to brag about. El Dorado journeys to nearby Smackover with a big chance of being soundly trounced.

Russellville, playing 50-50 in the circuit, shows an open date but Clarksville will meet Fayetteville in a home engagement. The lightweight Forty-two Redbugs play Malvern's Leopards and Forrest City turns its Mustangs loose on nearby Brinkley. The tail-end Benton team engages Conway in what should be a nip-and-tuck battle.

JAMES A. FARLEY
CHAIRMAN

August 18th, 1937

Hon. Clifford Scott,
National Drainage, Levee and Irrigation
Association,
Little Rock, Arkansas

Dear Cliff:

I have before me your letter of the 16th and note its contents.

I will be glad to see you and discuss the situation with you when you are in the east. Very frankly, I am not going to become involved in that situation. It is a local one and I have no place in it. I did send Governor Bailey a wire, as I have done on similar occasions. I can understand full well that it might be misconstrued but I can't help it, and I know that you understand.

With kindest regards to you and Mrs. Scott,

Sincerely yours,

Mac

The fac-simile copies above of personal letters to C. H. Scott, president of the National Drainage, Levee and Irrigation Association, reveal the emptiness of Mr. Bailey's cunning pretensions to presidential favor.

Last year Mr. Scott was Finance Chairman in Arkansas for the Democratic National Committee and raised the largest per capita contribution in the nation for the Roosevelt-Garner ticket.

Before joining Congressman Miller's campaign headquarters, Mr. Scott, who was probably the first man in Arkansas to declare himself for the nomination of Mr. Roosevelt in 1932, wrote Col. McIntyre and Mr. Farley.

Learning of Mr. Farley's routine telegram of congratulations to Governor Bailey under date of August 4, (five days before the convention of rank and file Democrats which nominated John E. Miller), he knew that the National Chairman had not been informed that the committee nomination was illegal.

His loyalty to the President and the National Chairman impelled him to advise them of the situation before casting his lot with Congressman Miller. Completely reassured by Mr. Farley's letter . . . and assurance confirmed by Col. McIntyre's later letter of October 2, written from Spokane, Washington on the President's Western tour . . . he threw himself with characteristic whole-heartedness into the Miller campaign.

With his two illegal committee nominations and one petition, Mr. Bailey will long be remembered as the most nominated and least elected manipulator in Arkansas politics.

Confident of President Roosevelt's continued personal friendship and assured of his complete and proper neutrality in this race, Congressman Miller submits his candidacy to the people with a pledge of continued loyalty to them and to the Democratic Party.

New Dodge Line Presents Its Claims to Public Approval

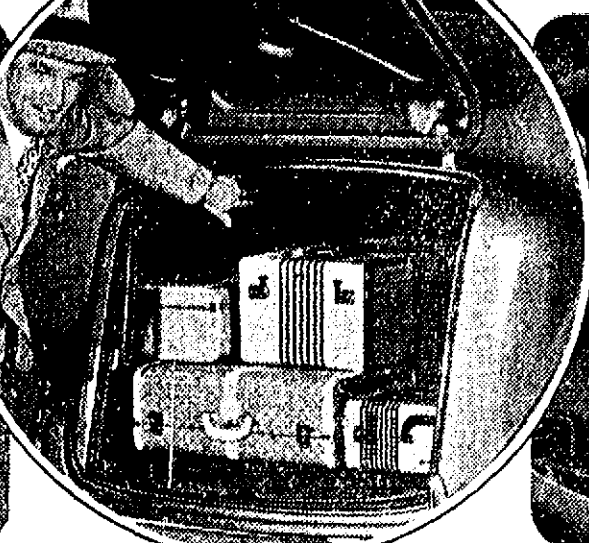

Forty-seven progressive improvements are embodied in this new Dodge 4-door touring sedan—and in the nine other models.

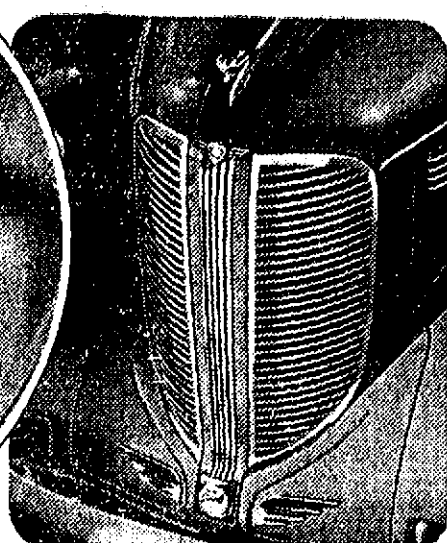

Beautiful, comfortable, and economical to operate—this new Dodge 2-door touring sedan will make many friends for itself.

The graceful, sturdy fender construction of the newest Dodge cars is seen here. Headlamps are embedded in the fender arches.

Twenty per cent more luggage space is achieved by carrying the spare tire vertically and by other changes in trunk construction.

Air-streamed beauty of an impressive and substantial order is noted in this head-on view of the new Dodge models.

ROME, Italy.—(AP)—Forty-one Italian officers and 17 soldiers have been international settlement, has increased her forces here to 200,000 troops, a Chinese official spokesman declared, asserting that the increase raises Japan's numerical strength to half of China's on the Shanghai front and represents an increase of more than 60,000 fighters within 10 days.

"It is indicative of the grave and unexpected difficulties the Japanese are experiencing in attempting to break the Chinese lines," he said.

Twenty-three Japanese troop ships, he said, are waiting to unload down the Whangpoo river and off the Chinese coast near the mouth of the Yangtze estuary.

With the start of the third month of hostilities on the edges of Shanghai, the Japanese made what appeared to be "feeler thrusts," pointing toward a possible effort to make a new landing at minor Yangtze river ports north of Liuhoo, near the confluence with the Whangpoo, from which to outflank the Chinese line defending the way toward Nanking.

After 60 days of night and day fighting into which the Japanese have sent warships, field artillery, tanks, cavalry and more than 130,000 infantry troops they have been unable to break through a Chinese human wall here.

H. H. Foster of Spring Hill Sues Silk Hosiery Company

A Hempstead circuit court jury Thursday was hearing testimony in a personal damage suit brought by H. H. Foster of Spring Hill against A. L. Powell and a silk hosiery company.

The suit resulted from an automobile accident on the Emmet and Prescott highway several months ago.

The case opened Thursday morning and testimony was still being heard at 3 p. m. No other cases were heard up to this time Thursday.

Court was not in session Wednesday.

Saving 5 ways with Lion Naturalube!

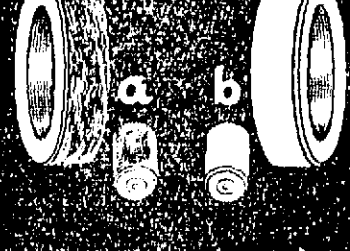

NEW TYPE MOTOR OIL ADDS POWER by removing CARBON STRONGER NATURAL FILM saves MOTOR WEAR

SAVES CARBON CLEANING

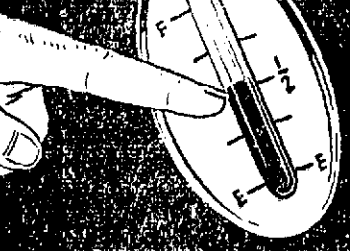

"A" Piston with heavy carbon deposit. Lubricated by nationally known premium quality motor oil. "B" Piston lubricated with Naturalube. Hard carbon deposits removed by Naturalube.

SAVES WEAR and REPAIRS

"A" Broken and cup badly damaged. Lubricated by nationally known premium quality motor oil. Oil film is drawn with 2,400 pounds pressure at 120 degrees F. "B" Piston and cup lubricated with Naturalube. Oil film undamaged with 7,000 pounds pressure both at 120 degrees F. and 400 degrees F. Records of laboratory machine tests. "Drawn from actual photographs"

SAVES GASOLINE

By removing hard carbon from rings, pistons, valves and plugs, Naturalube adds power. Gasoline mileage is increased as a result of added power.

FIRST—Naturalube saves money because it removes hard carbon—the cause of power loss and expensive repairs. Naturalube's ability to remove power-destroying hard carbon from rings, pistons, valves, and spark plugs comes from the rare, basically different crude from which it is refined.

SECOND—Naturalube saves repair bills—the result of oil film failure. Naturalube's stronger, oilier film is a trustworthy guard against excessive friction-wear, and provides a wide margin of safety.

THIRD—Naturalube will give you a definite saving in gasoline mileage, as a result of its ability to add power by removing hard carbon.

FOURTH—Naturalube saves in motor oil additions because it has greater resistance to oil breakdown and vaporization. Naturalube is able to retain its physical and chemical stability longer because it is a pure, distilled motor oil which contains no foreign materials.

FIFTH—Naturalube saves on oil purchases and gives you premium quality lubrication—extra power—safety from excessive wear—yet it costs only 25c a quart.

MONEY-BACK GUARANTEE: Go to any dealer who displays the Lion sign and have him fill your crankcase with Naturalube. GIVE IT A FAIR TRIAL—then if in your opinion it is not the best oil you have ever used—but none—your money will be refunded without question. Ask for illustrated literature giving complete facts about this distinctly different, definitely better motor oil.

Few Shell-Shock Cases Reported Among Spanish

VALENCIA, (AP)—More men than women in Madrid-street car murders especially—have had their nerves shattered by the rain of bombs and shells.

But the increase in the number of mental cases has been much lower than anticipated and is not alarming, officials aver.

Instances of shell shock among volunteers in the Spanish republican army are unusually low, authorities agree. Dr. Munro A. Meyer of New York, who has studied the effects of the war in Spain in individual nervous breakdowns, explains the resistance by the fact the men know what they are fighting for.

Cases of shell shock, it is reported, seem to be more frequent among members of the International Brigade than among Spaniards.

ON GUARD...! CITIZENS!

Don't Let The Renegades Trick You!

It has been charged the Democratic State Committee officials have threatened to bar at the 1938 primary any who vote for the independent candidate for United States Senator. That is not true.

Neither the State Committee nor any County Committee is going to bar bolters from voting at the primary in 1938.

It isn't necessary that they should, because the courts will see to it that the votes of all bolters will be thrown out when made an issue in contest proceedings.

Any acquaintance may challenge, and cause to be thrown out, the vote of a bolter who presents himself at the polls, and the courts will uphold the action.

The Supreme Court Speaks

In McLain vs. Fish, 159, Ark., 199, 251 S. W. 686, the Arkansas Supreme Court said:

"The next contention is that the court erred in not counting in appellant's favor the votes of ten electors who offered to vote in the town of Gould but were rejected by the election officers for the alleged reason that they had violated party rules with respect to voting for party nominees.

"One of the rules of the Democratic party provides that if any person presents himself to vote 'who is known to have voted against a Democratic nominee at a general election held within two years last preceding, who by his words or action has espoused the cause of other than Democratic nominees preceding a general or special election within said time, his right to vote at such person's action, the said judge shall prohibit such a person from voting at such primary election.'

"IT APPEARS THAT IN THE BIENNIAL ELECTION IN 1930 THESE PERSONS HAD SIGNED A PETITION FOR NOMINATION OF INDEPENDENT CANDIDATES FOR JUSTICE OF THE PEACE IN OPPOSITION TO THE DEMOCRATIC NOMINEES, AND HAD VOTED FOR SUCH INDEPENDENT CANDIDATES COUNSEL TEND, IN THE FIRST PLACE, THAT THIS RULE IS VOID BECAUSE IT IS AN UNREASONABLE RESTRICTION UPON THE CONSTITUTIONAL RIGHT TO VOTE AND THAT SUCH RESTRICTION CANNOT BE IMPOSED BY PARTY RULES.

"In Ferguson vs. Montgomery, supra, we held that political parties 'have exclusive jurisdiction as to the regulation of primary election, except as taken away by statute,' and that party rules prescribing test for qualifications of voters will be upheld unless in conflict with statute. . . .

"THE REFUSAL TO ABIDE BY THE NOMINATIONS CERTIFIED CONSTITUTED AN INFRACTION OF PARTY RULES AND BARRED THOSE PERSONS FROM VOTING AT THE NEXT DEMOCRATIC ELECTION.

"WHERE NOMINATIONS ARE DULY CERTIFIED, VOTERS HAVE NO RIGHT TO QUESTION THE NOMINATIONS COLLATERALLY, AND IF THEY DO SO THEY THEREBY BID DEFIANCE TO PARTY RULES AND SUBJECT THEMSELVES TO PARTY DISCIPLINE. THEY CANNOT JUSTIFY THEMSELVES UNDER THE RULE BY SAYING THAT THE NOMINATIONS WERE NOT LEGAL." Those are the words of the Arkansas Supreme Court.

Just a Few Instances

The renegades, who wrote the party rules they now rebel against because they can't use them for their personal advantage, don't tell the voters—

That in 1933, an election contest involving the Fifth district congressional seat was dismissed because certain of the persons petitioning for the contest had voted against the Democratic nominee for chief justice a few months before (and the chief justice nominee was not named in a primary).

That in 1934, an election contest in Independence county was dismissed because certain of those participating had voted against the chief justice nominee in 1933.

That in 1934, an election contest in Arkansas county was dismissed because certain of the participants had voted against the chief justice nominee in 1933.

That in 1930, Dr. W. H. Abington, when made a defendant in a contest of his nomination to the State Senate, cross-complained and challenged 1,500 voters who he said had voted against Al Smith and Senator Robinson, national Democratic nominees for president and vice president, in 1928. The election contest was dismissed shortly after these votes were challenged.

That three aspirants for office in Jackson county in 1930 were ruled off the ballot because they had not supported all Democratic nominees in the 1928 election.

That one aspirant in Pulaski county lost an opportunity to seek office in 1930 because he had bolted in 1928.

Rule Or Ruin Tactics

THE DEMOCRATIC PARTY IS BIGGER THAN ANY MAN.

NONE WHO HAS DARED SEEK TO UNDERMINE OR DESTROY IT IN ARKANSAS HAS LIVED POLITICALLY TO TELL ABOUT IT.

The RENEGADES WHO ASK YOU TO BREAK PARTY RULE AND STATE LAW TO PERPETUATE THEM IN OFFICE HAVE NEVER SERVED ANY ONE BUT THEMSELVES.

BECAUSE THEY CAN'T RULE THE DEMOCRATIC PARTY, THEY WOULD RUIN IT.

Star Dust

PRaises Captain Keith

Dear Sir: Just a few words in praise of one of the least publicized—but one of the more important cogs in the Bobcat machine—Captain G. V. Keith. Keith is on top of every play and is a "Rock of Gibraltar" on the defense. He is the cornerstone of the Bobcats' "Seven Pillars of Granite."

Allow me to venture the prediction that the Bobcats have an excellent chance of finishing as high as third or higher in the conference this year. If the Bobcats play the football they are capable of doing against Jonesboro they should take them like the Yanks took the Giants.

—A Bobcat Fan.

Dear Bobcat Fan: We want to thank you for your communication and say that we agree with you. Captain Keith is a fierce charger, hard tackler and is a steading influence on the entire team.

In speaking of linemen we may add that the Bobcats' left tackle, Crady Quimby, deserves praise for his fine work this season. Quimby is one of the anchors of the forward wall, alert, steady and dependable.

Noble Masters, the Bobcats' right halfback, comes from a long line of football players. The son of Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Masters, Noble is the fifth son to take to the gridiron.

One of Noble's older brothers, Walter, was an all-state center on the Greenville, Texas, high school team four years ago. All four of Noble's brothers later played college football. Noble's father is a rabid football and baseball fan.

Mrs. Masters has never seen a football game.

And now for some pigskin picks:

Hope at Jonesboro. Hope, 13; Jonesboro, 6.
Pine Bluff at Camden. Zebras, 6; Camden, 0.
Hot Springs at Little Rock. Little Rock, 28; Hot Springs, 0.
Fort Smith at North Little Rock. Wildcats, 13; Fort Smith, 8.
Blytheville at Paragould. Blytheville, 20; Paragould, 6.
Clarksville at Fayetteville. Clarksville, 18; Fayetteville, 0.
Fordyce vs. Malvern. We don't know where this one will be played, but Fordyce, 21; Malvern, 0.
Forrest City at Brinkley. Forrest City, 18; Brinkley, 0.
El Dorado at Sikeston. Buckaroos, 13; El Dorado, 7.
Russellville at DeQueen. Russellville, 25; DeQueen, 0.

Hope High School Athletic committee—after a week's effort to obtain a special train to Jonesboro—gave up at noon Wednesday. Rates that had been sought from Hoxie to Jonesboro on the Frisco were received late Wednesday afternoon—too late.

The round trip would have cost a single person $5.90 with a guarantee by school officials that 150 persons would ride the train.

Rates for the Blytheville trip November 5 were also received. The fare will be $5.10 round trip with a guarantee of 150 fares. The route would be from Hope to Memphis on the Missouri Pacific and then the Frisco to Blytheville.

Whether the Bobcat special to Blytheville will be chartered will depend upon enthusiasm of Hope fans following the Jonesboro, Nashville and Camden games.

Rates also have been received for a special to Camden. Round trip fare to Camden October 29 is only $1.32 with a guarantee of 175 fares.

Personal to the Bobcats and Coach Hammons:

You may find the current strong, but here's hoping you make headway against the Golden Hurricane at Jonesboro. Good luck!

3-Year Contract Is Signed by McCarthy

Manager of the New York Yanks to Get $35,000 Per Year

NEW YORK—(AP)—Joe McCarthy called at Col. Jacob Ruppert's brewery Wednesday and 10 minutes later came out with a brand new three-year contract to manage the world's champion New York Yankees at $35,000 per year. The colonel had the papers ready. McCarthy took one look at the figures and the length of service and reached for his fountain pen.

All concerned were pleased. As a reward for Joe's fine work and also as evidence of his complete satisfaction with his manager's work, Colonel Ruppert broke one of his unwritten rules and signed for longer than two years.

When McCarthy signed for two years in the summer of 1935, the salary was not made public, but it was the general belief among baseball men that the contract called for approximately $35,000 annually.

In the seven years he has piloted the Yankees, McCarthy has won three pennants and three world's series. His teams have finished second four times. He is the only man in the majors to win pennants in both leagues. In 1929 he led the Chicago Cubs to a National League pennant, but lost the world's series to Connie Mack's Philadelphia Athletics.

McCarthy has few worries about next year so far as the Yankees are concerned. Except for a possible replacement for the veteran Tony Lazzeri at second base, the Yanks probably will go into the 1938 campaign with virtually the same lineup that enabled them to coast through the American League with a 13-game lead this year, and then go on to wallopp the Giants in the big series.

ST. LOUIS—(AP)—Donald L. Barnes, president of the St. Louis Browns, refused to say definitely, but there is a strong possibility that Charles (Gaby) Street will be handed the manager's

Southwestern and Hendrix to Meet

Little Rock Will Get First Taste of College Football Saturday

LITTLE ROCK—(AP)—Capitol City fans get this year's first taste of college football Saturday when the Hendrix Warriors of Conway tackle the rugged Southwestern Lynx of Memphis.

The Warriors will be the underdogs as Southwestern is favored to win the Southern Intercollegiate Athletic Association championship.

The Memphisians will be playing their fifth game of the season. They bested Arkansas State, Union of Jackson, Tenn., and Millsaps of Jackson, Miss., before bowing to Vanderbilt Commodores Saturday 6 to 17.

Hendrix dropped its opener to the Southeast Missouri Teachers, then came back with a 20-0 win over Monticello A. and M. The Warriors were in last week.

The champion Arkansas State Teachers Bears will take on out-of-state competition Friday at Conway, meeting Cumberland University. The Bears wallopped Monticello A. and M. 49 to 0 last week.

The luckless Monticello Aggies, with no victories to their credit, journey to Arkadelphia to meet Henderson State Teachers. Henderson fell before Arkansas Tech Friday, 13 to 0.

Tech filled a gap, left when Magnum A. and M. abandoned football for the year by scheduling Northeast Oklahoma Junior College of Miami.

The University of Arkansas Razorbacks go against the Texas University Longhorns at Austin.

Arkansas State, which made its annual homecoming a memorable event Saturday by whipping the Tennessee Junior Vols, is idle.

Job in 1938.

Barnes left no doubt as to his high regard for the former Cardinal pilot who joined the Browns as a coach this year when Jim Bottomley succeeded Rogers Hornsby as manager.

"Gaby is a good man and has a fine record," Barnes said. "He has been managing teams a long time and seldom has finished in the second position. We'd go a long way before we'd find any man better than Street and unless someone not considered right now turns up, it looks like our 1938 manager will be Street."

Barnes said the new manager would not be named until "just before the minor league meeting in December."

The Browns finished in the American League cellar. Bottomley was regarded as having a good chance to manage the team next year until he applied for the Cincinnati Reds job "just for a laugh."

Legality of the Nomination

The Independent candidate and some members of county committees persist in saying that the nomination of Carl E. Bailey by the Democratic State Committee was illegal, for the reason that the statutes of Arkansas do not empower a State Committee to make a nomination. They state that, under Section 3746 of the Digest, a nomination can be made in only three ways: (1) by a Convention of delegates, (2) a primary election, or (3) petition of electors.

Whoever makes a statement of that kind is woefully ignorant of the decisions of the courts which have construed statutes similar to the Arkansas statute. The States of Minnesota and Montana are the only states which have statutes similar to the Arkansas statute, both being almost in the same language as ours. The Supreme Court of each of those States stated in emphatic language that when such a statute does not prohibit a State Committee from making a nomination, the State Convention (which is authorized to make a nomination by the statute) has the right and power under the statute to delegate its authority to nominate to a committee of its own selection, and that the act of the committee, when such power has been delegated to it by the convention, is the act of the convention itself; and that the certificate of nomination executed by the chairman and secretary of the committee, is the proper and legal method of certification. See White v. Sanderson, 74 Minn. 118, and State v. Benton, 13 Mon. 306.

Unquestionably the lawyers representing the Independent candidate, fully realized that if they filed a suit to test the legality of the Bailey nomination, the suit would result in defeat. There was sufficient time to have filed a suit to test the proposition after Governor Bailey was nominated and after the Independent candidate had filed his petition with the Secretary of State. The fact that no test was ever sought in the courts is a tacit admission by the Independents that the nomination was legal. Lawyers representing Bailey requested lawyers who spoke for the Independent candidate to file the suit, but they replied that instead of having the question tested in court it would suit them better just to take the position that the nomination was illegal. The inference was that the ordinary layman, being unfamiliar with law and court decisions, would swallow such propaganda.

Let no one fool himself—the nomination of Carl E. Bailey by the State Committee was in accordance with the statutory law and the rules of the Democratic Party and he is the legal nominee of the Democratic Party for United States Senator.

When the Independent candidate and his cohorts say that Governor Bailey's nomination was illegal, they proclaim to the world that the nomination of the following, made also by committees, were illegal:

William F. Kirby, United States Senator.
Mrs. Pearl Feden Oldfield, Congresswoman.
Mrs. Effie Wingo, Congresswoman.
Mrs. Hattie W. Caraway, United States Senator.
J. S. Utley, Circuit Judge.
Duvall J. Purkins, Circuit Judge.
Elmer Owens, Chancellor.
Harry T. Woodridge, Chancellor.
Guy Fulk, Circuit Judge.
Abner McGeece, Municipal Judge and many others.

Under the court decisions of Arkansas, it is the duty of those who wish to be classed as Democrats, to participate in future Democratic primaries, hold positions as Democratic committeemen or delegates, or to run as candidate in Democratic primaries, to support the Democratic nominee at the special election on next Monday. See McLain v. Fish, 159 Ark. 199, Ferguson v. Montgomery, 148 Ark. 83.

If that be construed as a threat, please bear in mind that it is not made by officials of the Democratic State Committee, but by the Supreme Court of Arkansas.

E. Chas. Eichenbaum, Attorney.

THE MISFORTUNE OF POLITICS

The following editorial was published October 7, 1937, in the Jackson County Democrat, Newport, Ark.

A spectacle of the misfortune of politics as played by self-centered professional politicians occurred in Arkansas this week when Mrs. Edwilda Robinson, was literally dragged from the coffin of her late eminent husband, Joseph T. Robinson, in their desperate attempt to bolster their rapidly sinking ship of hope that Governor Carl E. Bailey, Democratic nominee for the United States Senate might be defeated. In a prepared statement she endorsed the Independent candidate. This elegant lady who for years has shared the limelight with her statesman-husband, apparently has been misled and mistreated by those who are attempting to wreck the Democratic party in the state and place it in an unfavorable light with the New Deal administration by elevating a congressman who has been critical of our beloved President and has been found wanting on practically all of the 'New Deal' program in Washington. These statements are not made without the first hand knowledge of the writer.

In conference with friends not so many months before the late Senator Robinson died he made this statement of John E. Miller, Independent candidate for the United States senate. "He is the most dependable member of the Arkansas delegation, and you can never know where he is." That statement followed on the heels of the experience friends of the late Senator had less than 18 months ago, when John Miller was making the last race for the seat in the lower house of Congress. The Independent candidate has always had opposition and each campaign has shown his support winning.

When Miller returned from Washington to make his campaign he saw that he faced a hard fight and as only one of his many excuses for failure to make any kind of a legislative showing, the statement that "If Senator Robinson had done his share and as much as he could in behalf of flood control, reservoirs would be built along the White River." That statement was made several times before the Independent candidate was informed that unless he stuck to the truth and left Senator Robinson out of his excuses, there would be an even harder race on the congressman's hands. This certainly would not mean co-operation of the kind of which Mrs. Robinson was talking. She just had not been informed and has never become a politician. She has been too busy maintaining her elegant home which was the mecca and joy to many outstanding leaders of the World during the years her husband served Arkansas. Mrs. Robinson does not deal in petty politics. She is too fine a character.

While Senator Robinson contrary to the advice of his physician, was working unselfishly at the expense of his health, which caused his death, for the passage of the Supreme Court bill believed by National Democratic leaders the most important piece of legislation, the now Independent candidate to succeed Senator Robinson was opposing his every move and wrote back to one of his Jackson county supporters, that he was opposed to the President's plan and "that was not the only point on which he and the President did not agree." That certainly would not be termed co-operation the kind that Mrs. Robinson knows.

One of the last acts of Senator Robinson was to secure the appointment of Judge Tom C. Trimble, son of his former law partner, to fill the vacancy left by the death of John E. Martineau. The now Independent candidate at that time was turning heaven and earth in Washington to secure the appointment for himself knowing full well that he must do something before the time for his renomination occurs next August. Was that co-operating with Senator Robinson?

The legislative record of the Independent candidate bespeaks of his ability. During his seven years he has introduced 68 bills and has secured the passage of five. One of these measures was a copy of the engineer's report of the survey made in the White River valley relative to flood control, he now calls it his TVA program for Arkansas. It is merely recommendations made by the governments trained men over a period of years, long before John Miller became congressman by the much discussed process of securing the Beebe votes from his friend Abbington at Beebe.

The 'Legal' Candidate

Among the misstatements being made by the Independent candidate pertains to the legality of the present election. He has for years posed as an attorney. He knows full well that the courts are established for deciding legal questions. If there is any question about the legality of the nomination of Carl E. Bailey who has not this Independent Moses gone into the courts and decided the question. Why was it that the heralded legal contest to question the certification of Carl Bailey as the Democratic nominee never filed. The voters well know that John Miller is attempting to drag them with him from the Democratic Party. He knows that the court has already passed on the question of party loyalty and that the question was raised by his fellow supporter Congressman D. D. Terry, in his successful election contest. He knows that the court has passed on the question of bolters. He knows that by voting for him every person so voting may legally have their ballots cast out as was held by the court ruling that, "Where nominations are duly certified, voters have no right to question the nominations collaterally, and if they do so they thereby bid defiance to party rules and subject themselves to party discipline. They cannot justify themselves under the rule by saying that the nomination was not legal." He knows and the county Democratic Central Committee should know that this is a matter of law and not a ruling for any county body. Again we say that the court is the place for legal questions to be settled. Why do they not take the nomination to the courts? John Miller's supporters informed the editor of the Jackson County Democrat in requesting his attendance at the hand-picked convention which nominated the Independent candidate that this would be filed the following Monday. Why was it never filed? Was it not because they learned of the law in the case? Did anyone ever see a lawyer fail to file a suit when he has any chance for a legal decision?

HELP 15 MILES OF KIDNEY TUBES

To Flush out Acids and Other Poisonous Waste

Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. Most people pass about a pint a day or about 3 pounds of waste. Treatment or surgery involving the removal and burning shows there may be something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

An excess of acids or poisons in your blood, when due to functional kidney disorders, may be the beginning of aging, backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of vitality, nervousness, night sweats, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headache and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Other Bills May Hamper Congress

Prolonged Jam Over Anti-Lynching Bill Is Feared

WASHINGTON—(AP)—When congress meets next month it will be the third time in less than nine years that it has been called into extra session to legislate on the "farm problem."

Administration strategists, seeking a swift approval of a five-point program, faced the possibility of a prolonged jam over the anti-lynching bill.

The senate, in order to get out of a parliamentary tangle in August, agreed to formally make the anti-lynching measure a special order of business immediately after a vote is taken on farm legislation at the next session. The agreement, parliamentarians said, is so worded that it holds good even in the extra session that has been called by President Roosevelt.

Exports Larger
WASHINGTON—(AP)—Government agencies reported Thursday that domestic consumption and exports of cotton for the first two months of the current season were larger than August and September totals of last year.

Asks Balanced Budget
BOSTON, Mass.—(AP)—Orval Adams, newly-elected president of the American Bankers association, Thursday demanded a balanced federal budget and called upon the bankers of the nation "to make all of the people deficit conscious."

Kiwanians Elect Little Rock Man

Carroll Thibault Named Governor of Mo-Kan-Ark District

WICHITA, Kan.—(AP)—Carroll Thibault, Little Rock, Ark., was elected governor of Missouri, Kansas and Arkansas Kiwanians Wednesday at the concluding session of the district's annual convention. Thibault, elected without opposition, succeeds Henry W. Thiessen, Hutchinson, Kan.

D. R. Alexander of Kansas City was re-elected district treasurer. A district secretary will be selected by the new governor. Harold C. Ingram of Lawrence, Kan., is retiring secretary. Lieutenant governors chosen include: Theo F. Huston, Hot Springs, Ark., Division 7; C. M. Keller, Moberly, Mo., Division 8; Hubert L. Minton, Conway, Ark., Division 9 (re-elected).

Truck Knocks Down a Power Pole Here

2,300-Volt Line Is "Down" Until Repair Thursday Noon

A Schuster produce truck from Shreveport pulling into the alley off Walnut street leading to the back doors of Hope's "grocery row" accidentally struck a power-line pole and snapped it in two about 8 o'clock Thursday morning. The accident hurled a big transformer to the ground and put out of commission a 2,300-volt line of the Hope municipal plant. Linemen repaired the break at noon, and service was restored. The transformer proved to be damaged, and was replaced.

Man Drinks Poison to End His Life

Despondent Over Price of Cotton, John Craig Kills Himself

POPULAR BLUFF, Mo.—Because cotton prices had dropped so much and prospects were dimming for making expenses with a farm he had rented, John W. Craig, 47, Quin district farmer, ended his life by drinking poison Tuesday night. Coroner Grover Greer said Craig had discussed the market price on cotton with his family and had refused to eat his evening meal after returning home from the sale of a load of cotton. He died two hours after telling members of his family he had poisoned himself and asking that he be brought to a hospital here. He is survived by his parents, his wife and four children.

Former Officer Is Guilty of Murder

J. W. Jones Is Sentenced to Seven Years in Prison

MORRILLTON, Ark.—(AP)—A jury in Circuit Court convicted J. W. Jones, 74, former Morrillton city marshal, of second degree murder Wednesday night and fixed his punishment at seven years in the penitentiary for the slaying of Charles Pickthorn, 42, last July 12. Pickthorn, a son-in-law of Jones' deceased brother, was shot to death while working in a stock barn here. Officers said J. W. Jones and Pickthorn had quarreled over disposition of an estate. The jury deliberated two and a half hours. There are more than 1,300 daily newspapers in Japan.

Man Kills His Wife and Auto Salesman

Kentucky Evangelist Surrenders After Double Slaying

LEXINGTON, Ky.—(AP)—The wife of a Lexington evangelist and an automobile salesman were shot to death Wednesday night at the former's home, and shortly afterward the woman's husband surrendered to police and was booked for murder.

The victims were Mrs. Willie Johnson, 42, and William Rue, 37. Rue lived at Lexington but was employed as an automobile salesman at Georgetown, Ky.

Police said the woman's husband, Miller Olmon Johnson, 47, interdenominational preacher, went to the home of neighbors and told them: "I just shot my wife and a man over at my house. I don't know whether they're dead or not. I'm going down to the police."

The evangelist was quoted by Sherrow as saying he found Rue and his wife, from whom he had been separated for a year, embracing when he went to Mrs. Johnston's home Wednesday night to visit his "baby." However, brothers of Rue said he was the victim of a "mistaken identity."

Gilbert and Stanley Rue told reporters their brother had been going with Leila Johnston, 23, daughter of Mrs. Johnston for about a year and had planned to marry her. Police said the Johnstons had several children.

Growth Is Limited by Unknown Agent

"Limiting Factor" Prevents Giants Among Animals and Plants

PASADENA, Calif.—It appears that science won't be able to grow giants, either plant or animal, until they discover one of nature's greatest unknowns—the "limiting factor." This means the force or condition that limits growth. New examples of this limit are reported in the proceedings of the National Bonner and Grice-Axtman of the California Institute of Technology. They removed the embryonic plants from the seeds of perfection peas. The tiny plants were then made to grow in sterile solutions, distilled water mixed with salts. Vitamin B (one), which helps in the growth of humans, also speeded the growth of these pea plants when added to their food. Another of man's life essentials, vitamin C, also made the peas grow big and similar growing powers. One was folliculin, an essential of the sex cycle of women. Another was pantothenic acid, a new discovery. But adding all of these together did nothing more toward growth than one of them alone. Nature seemed to be able to get "enough" with any one, and after that there was no effect. No clue was found to the "limiting factor," which stopped these perfection peas after they had reached "normal" size.

Completes 9,400 Miles of His Trip

Tom Herridge Passes Though Hope on 25,000-Mile Journey

Tom Herridge, traveler and adventurer of Tarkio, Mo., completed 9,400 miles of a proposed 25,000-mile trip when he arrived in Hope Thursday riding his "auto glider," a motor vehicle with a miniature trailer attached. Herridge is en route from Canada to New Orleans, Florida and Cuba. From there he will map his destination. The "auto glider" travels 120 miles on a single gallon of gasoline and 500 miles on a quart of oil, Herridge said. The miniature trailer is two feet wide, two feet high and 3½ feet long. When the trailer is extended, Herridge sleeps in it. The trailer is equipped with lights and a radio. Herridge left Tarkio, his home town, six months ago. He figures it will take a total of two years to complete the 25,000-mile journey.

MIND Your MANNERS

Test your knowledge of correct social usage by answering the following questions, then checking against the authoritative answers below:

1. If you are writing a letter to a widow, should you address it "Mrs. Alice Long"?
2. Is "Sincerely yours" correct for both business and social notes?
3. Should a comma or colon follow the salutation in a friendly letter?
4. Should an envelope addressed to a small girl read "Mary James"?
5. Need one apologize for typing a friendly letter?

What would you do if—

You are writing an answer to a formal invitation:

- (a) Write it on a correspondence card?
- (b) Write on one of your visiting cards?
- (c) Use small white note paper?

Answers

1. No. "Mrs. Richard Long."
2. Yes.
3. Comma.
4. No. "Miss Mary James."
5. No.

High Mountain Is Air Test Station

Aviation There Finds How Ice Forms on Wings of Plane

CAMBRIDGE, Mass.—Mount Washington, the tallest peak in the east, is a good test airplane for one thing—ice on wings.

The mountain, explains S. Pagliuca of Harvard's Blue hill observatory in the journal of the Aeronautical Sciences, in spite of standing still, furnishes a good imitation of the forces that put ice on a moving plane. This he demonstrated by fixing an airplane wing on a stout post and facing its leading edge into the winds on top of Mount Washington. Winds there blow from 40 to 100, sometimes 200 miles an hour.

And half of the time the weather is such that "rime" forms on the wings. Rime is ice crystals that form directly into the teeth of the wind. This is the kind of ice formation pilots fear, because it piles up on the leading edges of the wings.

Most of the ice information comes from pilots. Dr. Pagliuca explains, and they have to be concerned with safety first. They cannot let ice form for hours in order to discover the important workings of the "how" of nature. Wind tunnels have tried, with some success. But in tunnels it is difficult to reproduce the great outdoors conditions which the planes must face.
